Christ" (Acts 20:21). You can't separate the two.

Repentance is agreeing with God about our sins. Faith is agreeing with God about His forgiveness. We can't do less and we can't offer more. We must hold both of our empty hands open to receive what God is waiting to give.

OUR TASK OF FORGIVING

Knowing what God's forgiveness is, we know what ours must be. Like Peter, we may be tempted to think that forgiving eight times is too much to expect. We may think that a lack of repentance in our enemy is our "out." But even when people have not repented, we must want them to repent, for God does.

Perhaps we have even caught ourselves resembling Jonah, who refused to preach to Nineveh because he wanted to see them get what he thought they deserved. He didn't want them to hear because then they might repent and God would forgive them. But God didn't let him get away with this. God's man must embrace God's ways.

How should we pray for our enemies? Jesus didn't ask us to pray, "God bless so-and-so." This would be asking God to give the person extra health, success, money and luck. Christian prayer is agreeing with God and cooperating with His purposes. And God's purpose for all men is "repentance to God, and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ." This ought to set our minds at rest about how to pray for our enemies. It should cover our attitude toward those who wrong us. And it should remind us of our duty to God and man when we sin. END
